The Big-Business “National Summit” meets June 15-17 at the GM Renaissance Center. There the heads of corporate giants Conoco-Phillips, Dow Chemical, GM, Chrysler, Ascension Health, Nuclear Energy Institute Ltd., CitiBank, National Council on Competitiveness, U.S. Chamber of Commerce and others claim they will “define America’s future.” American Axle & Mfg. CEO Richard Dauch, DTE Energy head Anthony Early, and former Michigan Gov. John Engler, now president and CEO of the National Association of Manufacturers, will be among over 60 CEO speakers.

How dare these big-business honchos come to Detroit to plot how to enrich themselves further while we struggle against mass layoffs and plant closings, home foreclosures and evictions, homelessness, utility and water cutoffs, school shutdowns, budget cuts, record-high unemployment, racism and every other kind of outrage!

The People’s Summit and Tent City will be a dynamic event with daily demonstrations, rallies, speak-outs, town hall meetings and cultural events. We’ll confront the big-business CEOs and challenge their “definition” of workers’ and poor peoples’ futures. We’ll come up with our own People’s Stimulus Plan and Economic Bill of Rights.
